

Barbara Wolfram Ulma Doily Pattern

I have been told that Barbara passed on to the Summerland. She will be greatly missed by us all.

Feb. 21, 2007- I found there are errors in the pattern. I will try to work them out and post a correction as soon as I can.

Cast on 6 stitches - all not mentioned rounds are knitted.

I usually cast on 3 stitches on 2 needles, then join and knit 2 stitches, take another needle and knit 2 stitches, then take another needle and knit the last 2 stitches. Then knit one more round before starting.

Rows	Row Instructions	Stitches on each needle
Row 1:	O, k1 - the pattern gets done twice on each needle	4 sts on each needle
Row 3:	O, k1, O, k1, O - the pattern gets done twice on each needle	10 sts on each needle
Row 5:	(4x k1, O) k1	18 sts on each needle
Row 7:	SKP, (4x k1, O) k1, k2tog	22 sts on each needle
Row 9:	SKP, k2, (3x O, k1) O, k2, k2tog	26 sts on each needle

Row 28:	k40

With a size 7 steel crochet hook: single crochet through 3 stitches, chain 9, then single crochet through next 4 stitches, chain 9, (3x single crochet through next 3 stitches, chain 9) single crochet through next 4 stitches.

Repeat this process 5 more times until all stitches are off your needles.

Slip stitch the last chain 9 into the first 3 stitches. Then for easier stretching I usually slip stitch up to the center of the first loop, single crochet in the middle of this loop, chain 9, single crochet into next loop and continue like that until the end, then fasten off. This gives you a centered loop right over the tip of each leaf. Makes it a lot easier to stretch even.

Using size 30 cotton and #2 needles this will stretch to a 10" round, very lacy doily.
